Information Security Forum Launches Aligned Tools Suite 2020

Latest Offering Helps Members Demonstrate Compliance with International Standards and Assure Security Across External Suppliers

The Information Security Forum (ISF) today announces the launch of the ISF Aligned Tools Suite 2020, bringing together fourteen ISF tools and cross reference aids, including a rebuilt Benchmark platform and the new IRAM2 WebApp. Aligned to the latest version of the Standard of Good Practice for Information Security 2020 (SOGP 2020), the suite – which also includes Security Healthcheck, Supply Chain accelerator tools and SOGP 2020 cross references – helps Members demonstrate compliance with international standards and assure security across their external suppliers.

“Cybercrime flourishes in an economic downturn, and as more organizations adopt digitalization and move operations online, their need to protect data and critical assets increases,” said Steve Durbin, Managing Director, ISF. “We live in an uncertain world where budgets and resources are tight, yet the need to manage information risk and establish resilience has never been more important. The ISF Aligned Tools Suite 2020 has been designed to help organizations of all sizes be agile and confident when making decisions on meeting the challenges of this new world.”

For more than 30 years, the ISF has supported Members with their assessment, compliance and assurance needs. Building on this knowledge and collaboration, the Aligned Tools Suite 2020 helps businesses answer questions, such as:

- How do you prioritize when resources are under pressure?
- How do you determine a manageable level of information risk?
- How do you assure your supply chain?
- How do you manage compliance across multiple standards?

Available exclusively to ISF Members, the Aligned Tools Suite helps organizations save time, prioritize investment, and make smarter decisions. Used individually, or together as a suite, the tools and cross reference aids that make up the Aligned Tools Suite are designed to complement an organisation’s existing approaches. ISF Consultancy Services are available to assist in the implementation of the Aligned Tools Suite.

“During these challenging times, the ISF is focused on helping our Members meet business needs, manage risk effectively and provide assurance of the highest levels of protection across their organization,” continued Durbin. “With alignment to the Standard of Good Practice for Information Security 2020 and other key industry standards, it has never been easier for Members to use the Aligned Tools Suite to Assess, Comply and Assure.”
Aligned Tools Suite 2020 will be featured at Digital 2020, ISF World Congress, which takes place November 15-19, 2020. Now in its 31st year, the annual event provides the setting for attendees to discuss and find solutions to today's most significant cyber security challenges. For the first time, the event will be held virtually, providing a unique online, interactive global event experience, available in multiple time zones, allowing attendees to watch and participate in the full show at times that best suit their schedules.
