Your Challenge

Reaching the right audience in a crowded market

As a senior marketer in cyber security, you're facing real pain points

You're under pressure to generate high-quality leads, not just quantity.

Your sales team needs real face time with decision-makers, not gatekeepers.

CISOs are notoriously difficult to engage through traditional digital channels.

You need brand visibility in a trusted environment, not just another trade show.

The ISF Solution

The ISF events programme is purpose-built to solve these challenges

Quality time

Structured networking events, expert roundtables, presentations to delegates and limited vendor participation ensure your team gets meaningful engagement with our members.

Trust-based environment

ISF is a not-for-profit organisation, and our member attendees come for the education, insights, networking and community – which means your brand can benefit from association with our credibility.

Curated attendee list

Our events are exclusive to ISF member organisations – meaning CISOs and senior security professionals from the world's largest companies are in attendance.

Global reach

With events across Europe, North America, and Asia-Pacific, you'll reach key security leaders in global financial services, energy, manufacturing, pharma, and more.

"This was the best professional event I've ever attended."

Why Sponsor an ISF Event?

❖ Guaranteed CISO access

Directly engage in person with the decision-makers that drive major cyber security budgets within their organisation.

❖ Be heard as well as seen

Be part of the discussion through breakout presentations, product demonstrations and discussions.

❖ Generate meaningful pipeline opportunities

Meet prospects in a low-pressure, high-trust environment where conversations convert.

❖ Exclusive exposure

We strictly limit the number of vendors at each event to avoid vendor fatigue and maximise return on investment.

❖ Position your brand as a trusted partner

Align with the ISF reputation as a world leader in thought leadership, research and neutrality.

❖ Engagement beyond the events

Extend visibility through post-event access, branding, and content amplification across the ISF member community.

“The ISF World Congress is a unique event and was by far the best in-person event I attended in 2024.”

Digital

Prices range from £12k–£18k depending on the format

A powerful, low-barrier, high-impact way to engage with the ISF global Member community, enabling you to deliver educational content to a very relevant and targeted audience.

Return on investment

Direct lead generation as well as strong market positioning.

Regional ISF Chapter events

Prices range from £4k–£12k depending on size of chapter

A highly targeted and intimate sponsorship opportunity — perfect for cybersecurity vendors looking to build relationships with senior security decision-makers at a local level, in a trusted, peer-led environment.

Return on investment

A hyper-targeted audience. ISF Chapter events don't deliver 'leads' — they deliver access; access to the right people, in the right context, where trust and relevance convert into a tangible pipeline.

Custom and exclusive options available

If your team has a specific activation in mind — whether it's a private CISO dinner, webinar, podcast, product demo — we'll collaborate to make it happen within the ISF events framework.

About ISF

For over 30 years, the Information Security Forum (ISF) has been the trusted authority on cyber, information and risk management for world leading organisations. Our members include CISOs and senior executives from many Fortune and Forbes listed companies, making the ISF member community a magnet for high-level decision makers in information and cyber security.

ISF World Congress and Regional Chapter events are not your typical trade show or pay-to-play event. It's a member-only, executive-level gathering of cyber security leaders from the world's largest organisations.

Vendors who sponsor don't just get booth space — they become part of the conversation shaping global cyber security strategy.
